Improving Health Care Quality & Transparency

Together with the Office for Oregon Health Policy and Research, the Commission's Quality and Transparency Workgroup published Oregon's first publicly reported hospital quality information in July 2005. The workgroup is co-chaired by OHPC commissioners Vickie Gates and Jonathan Ater. Some specific areas of focus include:

- Partnering with hospitals to develop a surgical quality improvement project
- Refining, updating, and adding to the hospital quality information, including a consumer friendly product. * New 2005 data to be released soon.
- Reaching out to the health care purchasers, consumers, and other parties to encourage the use of available quality information for decision making.
- Advising the OHPC on the quality and transparency component of its reform plan

Next Meeting: September 11, 2-4 p.m., State Office Building, Room 120A
800 Oregon St, Portland

Agenda: Discuss health care quality and transparency recommendations to the OHPC, the Medicaid Transformation Project, and results of the electronic health records statewide inventory.

Supporting Community-Created Health Care Solutions

Localities around the state are working to align resources and form partnerships to improve access to health care for their communities. The Commission's Local Delivery System Models Workgroup, chaired by commissioners Vanetta Abdellatif and Dr. Rick Wopat, released a report in January highlighting community-created health care access projects in Oregon and how these efforts can inform statewide health policy.

Next Meeting: September 19, 1-3 p.m., State Office Building, Room 130
800 NE Oregon St, Portland

Agenda: Finalize recommendations to the OHPC in the areas of metrics for community health care access, payment system reform, and support for local community access projects.

Community Health Priorities: A Resource for Action in Oregon

What are Oregon's real public health needs? How can we effectively build consensus around Oregonian's health priorities? The Oregon Office of Public Health, the Northwest Health Foundation, and the Oregon Health Policy Commission are working together to answer these questions. The goal is to understand what communities and policymakers care about regarding "health", link these concerns with data, and create a resource and momentum to address Oregonian's health priorities. This summer, project managers are evaluating past and current projects to learn why some efforts have worked better than others in inspiring change, and talking with the community and community leaders about their priorities for the future. Stay tuned for next steps; a detailed progress report will be out this fall.
